

InsightOut

Enneagram Assessment

PREPARED FOR

Anders Wennerstrom

Type 9 — The Peacemaker · August 2026

WHAT'S IN THIS REPORT

PREPARED FOR

Anders Wennerstrom

Type 9 — The Peacemaker · August 2026

01	Welcome	1
	What this report is, how to use it, and what to bring to your debrief.
02	What Is the Enneagram?	2
	A brief introduction to the system: nine types, one dynamic map.
03	Quick Reference	3
	Your assessment results at a glance, and tips for your debrief conversation.
04	Exploring Your Type Hypothesis	4
	Your leading type, its core motivation, and how the pattern shows up in the real world.
05	Your Wings	6
	The two adjacent types that flavor your Nine, and what each one offers you.
06	Your Stress and Security Points	7
	Where you move under pressure and in flow, and how to draw on both.
07	Instincts & Subtypes	8
	Your dominant instinct, the three instincts, and what it means to be a One-to-One Nine.
08	Development Ideas for Peacemakers	9
	Practical ways to build courage, agility, and resilience, starting today.
09	Your Thoughts	10
	A closing note and questions to reflect and/or journal on.

A NOTE FROM CAI & MO

Welcome, Anders!

You just did something most people never do.

You took the time to look inward. That's not a small thing. However you were introduced to InsightOut (through a coach, a friend, or sheer coincidence), we're glad you're here.

This report is built from your answers to the InsightOut Enneagram Assessment. It introduces the basic Enneagram concepts, goes deep on your "home base" type, explores the dynamics that shape it, and offers development ideas for putting what you learn to work.

Hold all of it as a hypothesis to be tested in the real world. You are the final authority on your own type; what follows is a starting point. Our goal is to help you see yourself more clearly: what drives you, how you see the world, and why you do the things you do. That clarity is what lets you step out of your default patterns and bring more range to everyday life.

If you want to go further, connect with us or any InsightOut-certified coach, or visit www.hiveleadership.com/the-enneagram.

We're honored to be on this journey with you.

With gratitude and respect,

Cai Delumpa

Co-Founder, Hive, Inc.
Type 7 · The Enthusiast

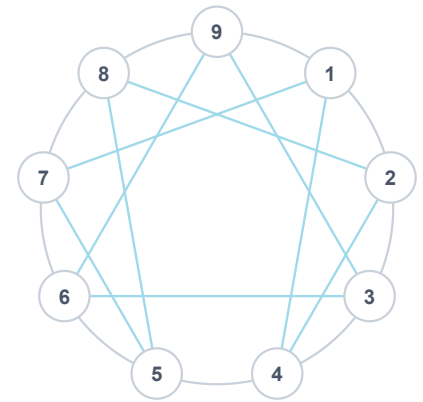

Monique Breault

Co-Founder, Hive, Inc.
Type 9 · The Peacemaker

What Is the Enneagram?

The Enneagram is a dynamic system that describes nine distinct ways of being in the world: nine strategies, shaped early in life, for how to get love, belonging, and control. Each type is anchored by a core worldview and a deep, core motivation that drives how we think, feel, and behave.

Understanding our type is about seeing the pattern clearly enough that we have a choice about it. Below is an introduction to the nine types and their core motivation, along with the gifts each one offers.

THE NINE ENNEAGRAM TYPES — SCAN EACH ONE

As you read, notice which descriptions pull at you, even slightly. That is the Enneagram beginning to work.

TYPE 1

The Improver

Sees a world that falls short of what it could be. Motivated to be good, principled, and beyond criticism. Attention goes to what is wrong or broken.

Gifts: Integrity, discernment, high standards

TYPE 2

The Giver

Sees a world where love is earned through service. Motivated to be needed and seen as caring. Attention goes to others' needs and relationship dynamics.

Gifts: Warmth, attunement, deep care

TYPE 3

The Performer

Sees a world that rewards results. Motivated to achieve and be recognized as valuable. Attention goes to goals, image, and how others perceive them.

Gifts: Drive, adaptability, inspiring

TYPE 4

The Individualist

Sees a world of infinite depth, with something always missing. Motivated to be authentic and deeply known. Attention goes to what is absent or lacking.

Gifts: Depth, originality, emotional honesty

TYPE 5

The Observer

Sees a world that is overwhelming and intrusive. Motivated to be competent and self-sufficient. Attention goes to ideas, concepts, and conserving energy.

Gifts: Clarity, insight, objectivity

TYPE 6

The Questioner

Sees a world that is unpredictable and unsafe. Motivated by security, trust, and preparedness. Attention goes to potential threats and who can be counted on.

Gifts: Loyalty, foresight, fierce commitment

TYPE 7

The Enthusiast

Sees a world full of possibility, threatened by limitation and pain. Motivated to stay free and experience life fully. Attention goes to options and what is next.

Gifts: Possibility, joy, generative energy

TYPE 8

The Protector

Sees a world where only the strong protect the weak. Motivated to assert strength and guard against injustice. Attention goes to power dynamics and who needs protecting.

Gifts: Strength, advocacy, courage

TYPE 9

The Peacemaker

Sees a world with underlying unity that conflict threatens. Motivated to maintain harmony and avoid disconnection. Attention goes to others' perspectives and common ground.

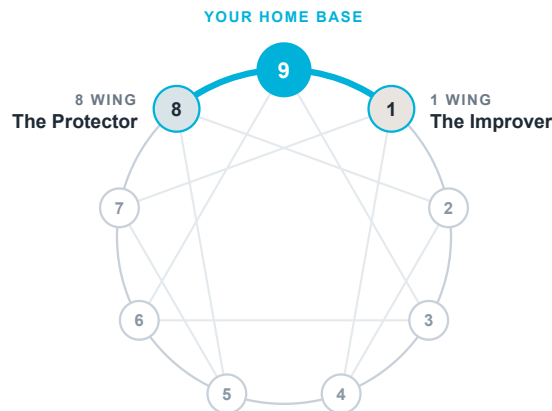

Gifts: Inclusion, steadiness, presence

Each of us has access to all nine Enneagram types, and one of them is your home base. Keep reading to find out which type your responses pointed to most clearly.

NAVIGATING THE ENNEAGRAM SYSTEM

Your Wings

Wings are the two types immediately adjacent to your home base type. Each wing "flavors" how your type shows up, and most people naturally lean more towards one. Both are always present, but which one shows up more is unique to you. When you access your wings intentionally they become valuable resources for balancing the automatic patterns of your home base type.

8 WING · TYPE 8

The Protector

A Nine with a strong Eight wing carries more edge, more appetite, and more willingness to push back when pushed. The Eight wing brings access to anger as a useful signal rather than something to manage away.

- You carry real presence, and you will protect others more readily than yourself.
- You can be direct, and you will confront something that matters to you.
- Once you know where you stand, you act on it.
- Others may find you more grounded and forceful than your easygoing manner suggests.
- Left unexamined, irritation can arrive suddenly and then vanish back into accommodation.

AS A RESOURCE

When you need to hold a position, take up space, or act decisively, reach for the Eight wing. It turns the Peacemaker's steadiness into something with backbone.

1 WING · TYPE 1

The Improver

A Nine with a stronger One wing carries more structure, more attention to doing things properly, and more internal discipline. The One wing brings a sense that things should be a certain way.

- You follow through on things, where Nine energy on its own might drift.
- You hold standards and want things done right.
- You bring care and craft to what you take on.
- Others may find you more orderly and idealistic than they expect of a Nine.
- Left unchecked, quiet perfectionism can turn self-forgetting into self-judgment.

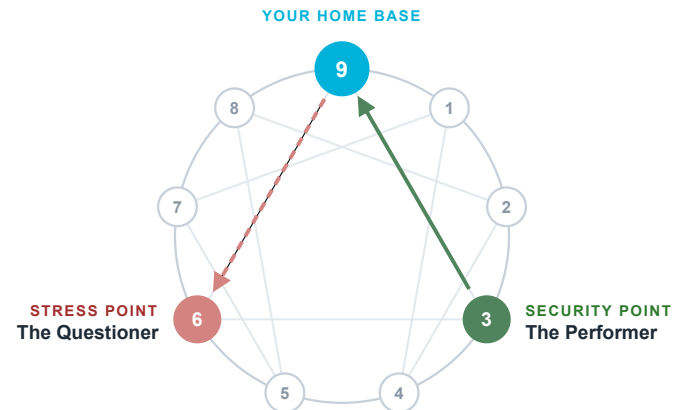

AS A RESOURCE

When you need focus, standards, or the discipline to finish something important, reach for the One wing. It channels the Peacemaker's acceptance into something more purposeful.

NAVIGATING THE ENNEAGRAM SYSTEM

Your Stress and Security Points

The Enneagram system shows you where you tend to move when you're feeling secure and in flow, and where you tend to move under an unusual amount of stress. Both moves happen in the background, part of the same internal operating system as your Home Base type and your Wings. When you access these points intentionally they become valuable resources to expand your range of choices in any situation.

6 STRESS POINT · TYPE 6 The Questioner

Under pressure, Nines shift toward Six energy — more anxious, doubting, worst-case-focused. The easy calm gives way to worry.

- Something that mattered got set aside to keep the peace, and it has not gone away.
- The scanning starts: every outcome gets checked, and none of them feels safe enough.
- The steadiness goes first: what usually holds you level is what starts to shake.

AS A RESOURCE

Draw on it when you need vigilance, preparation, and the will to face what you would avoid.

3 SECURITY POINT · TYPE 3 The Performer

When Nines feel safe and supported, they move toward Three energy — more focused and energized. Priorities come into view.

- The fog clears: you know what you want and you move on it without stalling.
- It becomes reachable when your own agenda is allowed to matter as much as everyone else's.
- Wanting something stops feeling like a risk to the peace, and starts moving you.

AS A RESOURCE

Draw on it when you need focus, drive, and the push to act on your own goals rather than defer.

Putting Your Resources to Work

Your Wings and your Stress and Security points give you more choices, and more range. The first step is catching yourself in the moment, pausing to notice, and then making a purposeful choice.

CATCH THE SHIFT

You notice yourself going along with something, agreeing easily, while the thing you actually think stays unsaid.

NOTICE THE IMPACT

The peace you are keeping is costing you your own position, and the worry underneath it keeps growing.

THEN CHOOSE

Name the one thing you want here, out loud, before the moment closes and going along becomes the answer.

QUESTIONS TO EXPLORE

Your Thoughts

Whatever landed as recognition is good data. So is whatever made you want to argue with a paragraph or two. This report is a hypothesis, not a verdict, and the only way to test it is against your own experience. The questions below are a place to start. An InsightOut coach can help you pressure-test any of it.

What's one thing you want to remember from this report?

What's one thing you're still curious about and want to learn more about?

What's one insight from Development Ideas you'd like to work on?

What would working on that insight give you?

What else would you like to capture?